Introduction to E-Content Programme

COURSE CONTENT

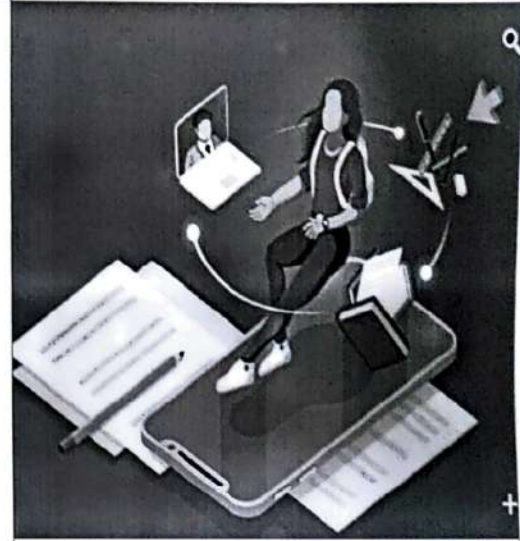

What is e-content? And how to prepare it?, Tools for e-content creation, Effective usage of MS Office for delivery of e-content, Effective usage of various digital platforms.

ABOUT

Since the time current government came to power, their one of the main agendas has been to stress upon digitization of all possible spheres. Various education policies specifically speak volumes about digital education and if we go by the University Grants Commission (UGC) norms then we find that special credit points are allotted for digital content/e-content creation.

Keeping in line with the above agenda various schemes have been launched by the government in the form of Digital India initiative, Atal tinkering labs (ATLs), Atal Innovation Mission (AIM) etc.

To inculcate the habit of digital content creation in our faculty members, this interactive programme has been initiated under the e-content series.

Report on Training Program for Teaching Faculties

Since the time current government came to power, their one of the main agendas has been to stress upon digitization of all possible spheres. Various education policies specifically speak volumes about digital education and if we go by the University Grants Commission (UGC) norms then we find that special credit points are allotted for digital content/e-content creation.

Keeping in line with the above agenda various schemes have been launched by the government in the form of Digital India initiative, Atal tinkering labs (ATLs), Atal Innovation Mission (AIM) etc.

Various universities across India have already started with their content driven education, therefore not to be left behind in this era of technology, Index Institute of Dental Sciences took an initiative to familiarize its faculty members with the recent developments in e-content methodology and hence conducted an innovative session on "Introduction to E-Content", delivered by Dr Hemani Sukhija, Professor & Head, Department of Oral Pathology & Microbiology, IIDS, Indore.

The speaker was introduced and programme was given a go ahead by an introduction speech delivered by Dr. Magesh Kumar S, Professor & Head, Department of Periodontology, IIDS, Indore.

The programme aimed at following major objectives:

1. What is e-content? And how to prepare it?
2. Tools for e-content creation
3. Effective usage of MS Office for delivery of e-content
4. Effective usage of various digital platforms

The speaker for the day, Dr Hemani Sukhija explained the audience about Learning management systems (LMS) which are basically web-based application platforms used to plan, assess and implement the learning processes related to online and offline training, administration and performance management.

She also explained about co-authoring tools such as PROMETEUS, ARIADNE, SCORM etc. which are basically the softwares used for creating multimedia content for delivery on the world wide web.

While the speaker enthusiastically explained the various aspects of content creation, she particularly pointed out the four phases that are of utmost importance during content creation i.e.,

Analysis phase, design phase, development phase, testing phase, implementation phase and finally evaluation phase.

Taking the session to the next level, Dr. Hemani Sukhija, enlisted the tools that can be utilized for preparation of e-content which are as follows:

1. Elucidat- a cloud-based tool that offers extensive library of pre-built templates.
2. Adobe Captivate- it's a desktop application that can be used for its customization options, color pallets, themes and slide master to create fit-for-purpose e-content development.
3. Articulate Storyline- offers a power point look and feel, and can be used for achieving interactivity in content through various triggers, which activates on tapping, clicking and rolling over the image.
4. Gomo- it's a cloud-based e-content development tool which allows to create web style e-learning courses that can be hosted online via the web or offline using the Gomo app.

She also enquired about the basic knowledge regarding digital platforms from the participants via an interactive quiz session in the middle, which did the work of ignition for the young as well as experienced minds to ponder upon the short comings that they could not contemplate all this while.

Post lunch, a hands-on session was conducted by Dr Hemani Sukhija and Dr. Dheeraj Sharma to further inspire and motivate the faculty members to utilize the various tools, including digital board and pen, for effective delivery of content.

After the hands-on session a conclusion speech and vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. Rolly S. Aggarwal, Vice Dean, IIDS followed later by a group photograph session.

Introduction:

Malwanchal University conducted a Training Workshop entitled “PowerPoint Presentation Masterclass “ for faculty members in the medical field on 12th and 13th September 2018. The workshop, spearheaded by Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhan Pawar from the IT department, aimed to enhance the proficiency of medical educators in creating effective digital presentations. The comprehensive training encompassed five modules, each meticulously designed to address the specific challenges and nuances of medical education and to equip participants with the skills necessary for crafting compelling and engaging medical presentations.

The workshop commenced with an exploration of the unique challenges inherent in medical education. Participants engaged in discussions facilitated by Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhan Pawar, identifying the complexities of conveying medical information effectively. The module emphasized the importance of crafting compelling narratives tailored to diverse audiences. Strategies for incorporating multimedia elements, such as images, videos, and animations, were discussed to enhance engagement and comprehension in the context of medical education.

Building upon the foundational understanding, the second module delved into the design principles essential for creating impactful medical presentations. Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhan Pawar guided participants through the intricacies of designing visually appealing slides for optimal information retention. Emphasis was placed on mastering layout, color, and font choices in the specific context of medical content. Techniques for effective data visualization were explored to ensure clear communication of complex medical information.

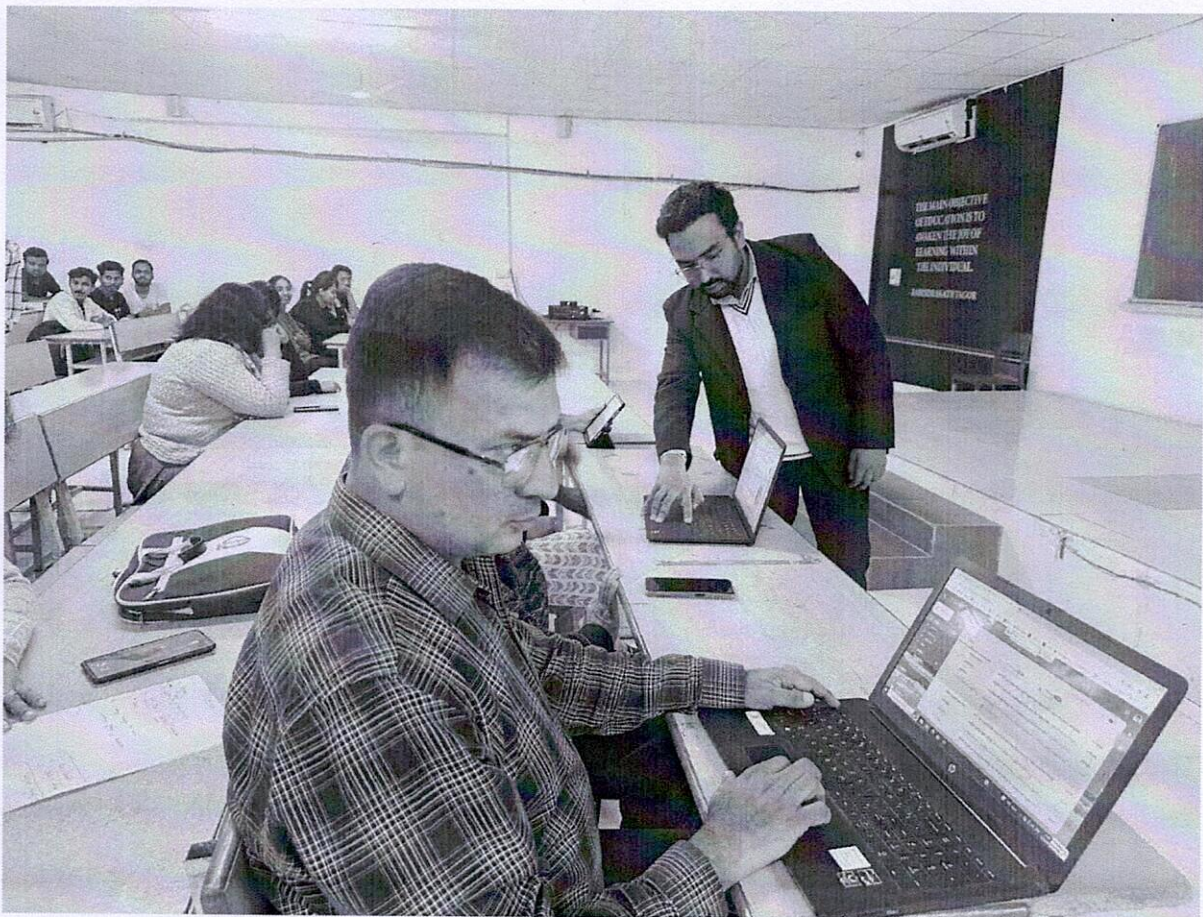

Recognizing the importance of audience engagement in medical education, the third module focused on incorporating interactive elements to enhance learning experiences. Facilitators discussed effective strategies for audience participation, including the use of quizzes, polls, and other interactive features. Participants learned how to create dynamic presentations that encourage active engagement and participation. Additionally, the module provided insights into managing Q&A sessions in medical presentations, ensuring effective communication and clarification of concepts.

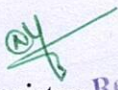

The fourth module centered on the art of storytelling as a powerful tool in medical presentations. Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhan Pawar shared techniques for crafting memorable narratives to convey medical information in a compelling manner. Educators were encouraged to integrate personal experiences to enhance connection with students. The module emphasized the importance of building a cohesive storyline that resonates with medical students, facilitating a deeper understanding of complex concepts through relatable and engaging narratives.

Participants observed live examples of effective implementation of the techniques and strategies covered in the previous modules. Following the demonstrations, peer-to-peer feedback sessions were conducted to encourage constructive critique and improvement. Expert guidance was provided to help participants refine their individual presentation styles, ensuring the application of learned skills in their specific medical teaching contexts.

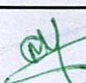

The Training Workshop for Medical Presentations at Malwanchal University, conducted by Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhan Pawar, emerged as a valuable initiative in enhancing the capabilities of faculty members in the medical field. As participants actively engaged with the content and practiced the skills imparted during the workshop, they gained practical insights into creating compelling and effective digital presentations tailored to the unique demands of medical education.

Learning about MS Excel Spreadsheet

OBJECTIVE

The objectives are to understand :

- Learning Excel Spreadsheet
- Autofill template
- About VLOOK
- Using filters etc.

ABOUT

These days, knowing how to use Microsoft Excel is so expected that it hardly warrants a line on our resumes. But, let's be honest here: How well do we really know how to use it?

You may know how-to plug-in numbers and add up cells in a column, but that's not going to get you far when it comes to reporting on your metrics.

Gone are the days when we could just rely on our gut for important academic decisions. More than likely, we have already been tasked with identifying trends within student-patient survey results, performing content topic analyses, or pulling in revenue data to calculate return on investment. What do all these things have in common? They require a bit more Excel knowledge than what we learned in school.

Whether we would like to create more beautiful charts, finally understand what pivot tables are, or complete our first VLOOKUP, this session will include everything we need to acknowledge to make more informed decisions, in less time.

More than likely, we have already been tasked with identifying trends within student-patient survey results, performing content topic analyses, or pulling in revenue data to calculate return on investment. What do all these things have in common? They require a bit more Excel knowledge than what we learned in school.

On this line, Index Institute of Dental Sciences, Malwanchal University, organized an e-learning programme for it's faculty members on the topic "Learning about MS Excel Spreadsheets" on 11th September 2019 by Mr Lakhan Panwar, IT-incharge, Malwanchal University, Indore.

The learning objectives stated by the respected speaker were:

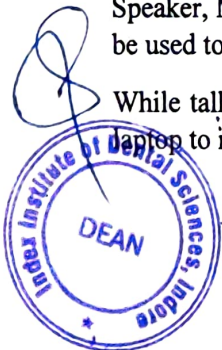

1. Learning Excel Spreadsheet
2. Autofill template
3. About VLOOK
4. Using filters etc.

The programme started with an introduction speech delivered by Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, Vice Dean, IIDS followed by lamp lighting and Sarasawati Vandana recited by the talented choir group of Index Institute of Dental Sciences.

After the recitation, the speaker began his presentation and explained about the basics of MS Excel Spreadsheet. He specifically pointed on to the usage of pivot table and IF functions of MS office.

Speaker, Mr Lakhan Panwar, also stressed on the excel formulas and keyboard shortcuts that can be used to make our tasks simpler.

While talking about the keyboard shortcuts, sir also demonstrated them on the screen using his laptop to make sure that participants understood it well enough.

He also focused on selective formatting tool that should be used, which allows us to change the cell's color depending upon the information contained within the cell.

While speaking about pivot tables, the speaker mentioned very clearly that these are basically used to reorganize the data in a spreadsheet. About COUNTIF function, he explained that, the power of IF functions of excel sheets expands beyond simple true or false statements, as with COUNTIF function, excel could count the number of times a word or number appears in any range of cells.

While concluding his elaborate session on excel sheets, he made everyone come up and individually utilize the software him/herself to acquaint one about the basic nuances of using MS office for furthering their knowledge base.

The conclusion speech of the programme was delivered by Dr Deepti Singh Hada, Associate Professor, Department of Oral Medicine & Radiology, followed by a vote of thanks.

Digital Content Creation Toolkit for Teachers: Beginner Level Workshop

Objective

- Understand the fundamentals of digital content creation in education.
- Gain proficiency in basic digital tools for e-content development.
- Explore techniques for creating visually appealing and interactive educational materials.
- Acquire foundational skills in video creation for e-learning.

ABOUT

In an era driven by technology, the integration of e-learning has become essential in providing dynamic and engaging educational experiences. The workshop, "Digital Content Creation Toolkit for Teachers," will help the educators at the beginner level seeking to harness the power of digital tools to create compelling e-content.

Importance of E-Learning:

Embracing e-learning opens doors to an innovative and inclusive educational landscape. From fostering student engagement to adapting to diverse learning styles, incorporating digital content creation skills is crucial for educators aiming to thrive in the evolving educational paradigm.

About the Workshop:

This hands-on workshop is tailored for teachers eager to explore the basics of digital content creation. Participants will gain practical insights and skills to craft effective e-learning materials, making education more accessible and engaging.

MODULES

- Introduction to Digital Content Creation.
- Exploring the benefits of digital content in education.
- Navigating basic digital tools for content creation.
- Creating Engaging Visuals: Utilizing images, graphics, and infographics.
- Introduction to user-friendly design tools.
- Enhancing visual appeal for effective learning.
- Interactive Elements in E-Content: Incorporating quizzes, polls, and interactive features.
- Hands-on practice with interactive tools.

Course Outcomes:

Upon completion of the workshop, participants will:

- Possess a basic toolkit for digital content creation.
- Feel confident in creating engaging and interactive e-learning materials.
- Understand the importance of incorporating digital elements in teaching.
- Be equipped to enhance the overall learning experience through technology.

Introduction:

Malwanchal University organized an instructive two-day workshop titled "Digital Content Creation Toolkit for Teachers: Beginner Level Workshop" on 10th and 11th September 2019. The workshop, facilitated by the resource person Mr. Rajesh Patil, aimed to equip teachers with foundational skills for digital content creation. The comprehensive training comprised various modules, each focusing on specific aspects of digital content creation, from basic tools and visual design to incorporating interactive elements for engaging learning experiences.

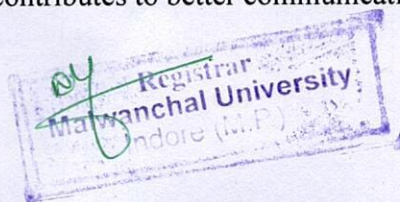

The workshop began with an insightful introduction to the principles of digital content creation. Mr. Rajesh Patil provided an overview of the evolution of educational content in the digital age, emphasizing the significance of transitioning from traditional methods to innovative digital approaches. Participants gained insights into the transformative potential of digital content in enhancing teaching and learning experiences.

Building on the foundational understanding, the second module delved into the myriad benefits of incorporating digital content in education. Mr. Rajesh Patil highlighted the ability of digital resources to cater to diverse learning styles, increase accessibility, and facilitate interactive and dynamic learning experiences. Participants explored case studies and examples showcasing successful integration of digital content in educational settings.

To empower educators with practical skills, the third module focused on navigating basic digital tools for content creation. Mr. Rajesh Patil introduced participants to user-friendly software and platforms, providing hands-on guidance on creating and editing digital content. This module aimed to demystify the initial challenges teachers may face when venturing into digital content creation.

The fourth module centered on enhancing visual appeal by leveraging various elements such as images, graphics, and infographics. Mr. Rajesh Patil demonstrated effective techniques for selecting and incorporating visuals to convey information more effectively. Educators learned to create visually engaging presentations that enhance understanding and retention among students. Recognizing the importance of design in digital content creation, the fifth module introduced participants to user-friendly design tools. Mr. Rajesh Patil guided teachers through the functionalities of tools like Canva, Piktochart, or Adobe Spark, providing practical insights into creating aesthetically pleasing and professional-looking educational materials.

Building on the previous module, the sixth module delved deeper into strategies for enhancing visual appeal for effective learning. Mr. Rajesh Patil explored advanced design principles, color schemes, and font choices suitable for educational content. Participants gained a deeper understanding of how thoughtful design contributes to better communication and engagement.

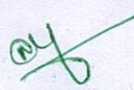

Recognizing the importance of interactivity in digital content, the seventh module focused on incorporating quizzes, polls, and other interactive features. Mr. Rajesh Patil introduced tools like Kahoot! and Mentimeter, showcasing their applications in creating engaging assessments and interactive elements within digital content.

The workshop concluded with a hands-on practice session where participants actively engaged with the interactive tools introduced in the previous module. Mr. Rajesh Patil guided teachers through practical exercises, encouraging them to create and implement quizzes, polls, and interactive features within sample digital content. This hands-on approach aimed to solidify the skills acquired during the workshop.

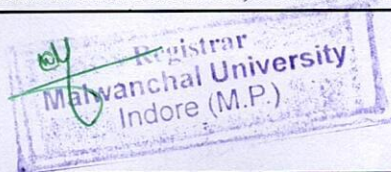

As Malwanchal University continues its commitment to innovative and effective teaching methodologies, the "Digital Content Creation Toolkit for Teachers" workshop represents a significant step towards preparing educators for the digital future of education. The skills acquired in this workshop are poised to positively impact teaching and learning experiences, creating a more dynamic and engaging educational environment for both educators and students alike.

Introduction:

Malwanchal University conducted a comprehensive two-day workshop on "Online Learning in Higher Education" from 12th to 15th June 2020. The workshop aimed to equip educators, particularly those in the medical and allied health sciences domain, with the necessary skills to navigate the evolving landscape of online education. Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhan Pawar, experienced trainers in e-content development, led the workshop, covering key modules to address the unique challenges and opportunities in higher education's online realm.

The workshop commenced with an insightful overview of current trends in online education and their impact on higher education. Participants delved into the transformative shifts in pedagogy, the rise of e-learning platforms, and the changing dynamics of student-teacher interactions. Emphasis was placed on understanding the evolving needs of today's learners and adapting traditional teaching methodologies to the online environment.

Acknowledging the distinctive nature of medical and allied health sciences education, the second module delved into the specific challenges and opportunities within this domain. Participants explored ways to overcome challenges related to practical training, hands-on experiences, and clinical exposure in the virtual space. Strategies were discussed to leverage online platforms for simulations, case studies, and virtual labs, ensuring a robust educational experience in these specialized fields.

The third module focused on the art of crafting engaging and interactive online content. Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhan Pawar demonstrated techniques to structure content effectively, maintain learner engagement, and foster interaction. Topics included effective storytelling, the use of multimedia elements, and incorporating interactive elements like quizzes and discussions to enhance the overall learning experience.

Participants were then guided through the integration of technology into medical e-education. The module explored various e-learning tools and platforms tailored to the medical field, including virtual dissections, medical simulations, and collaborative diagnostic tools. Practical demonstrations illustrated how technology could bridge the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application in medical education.

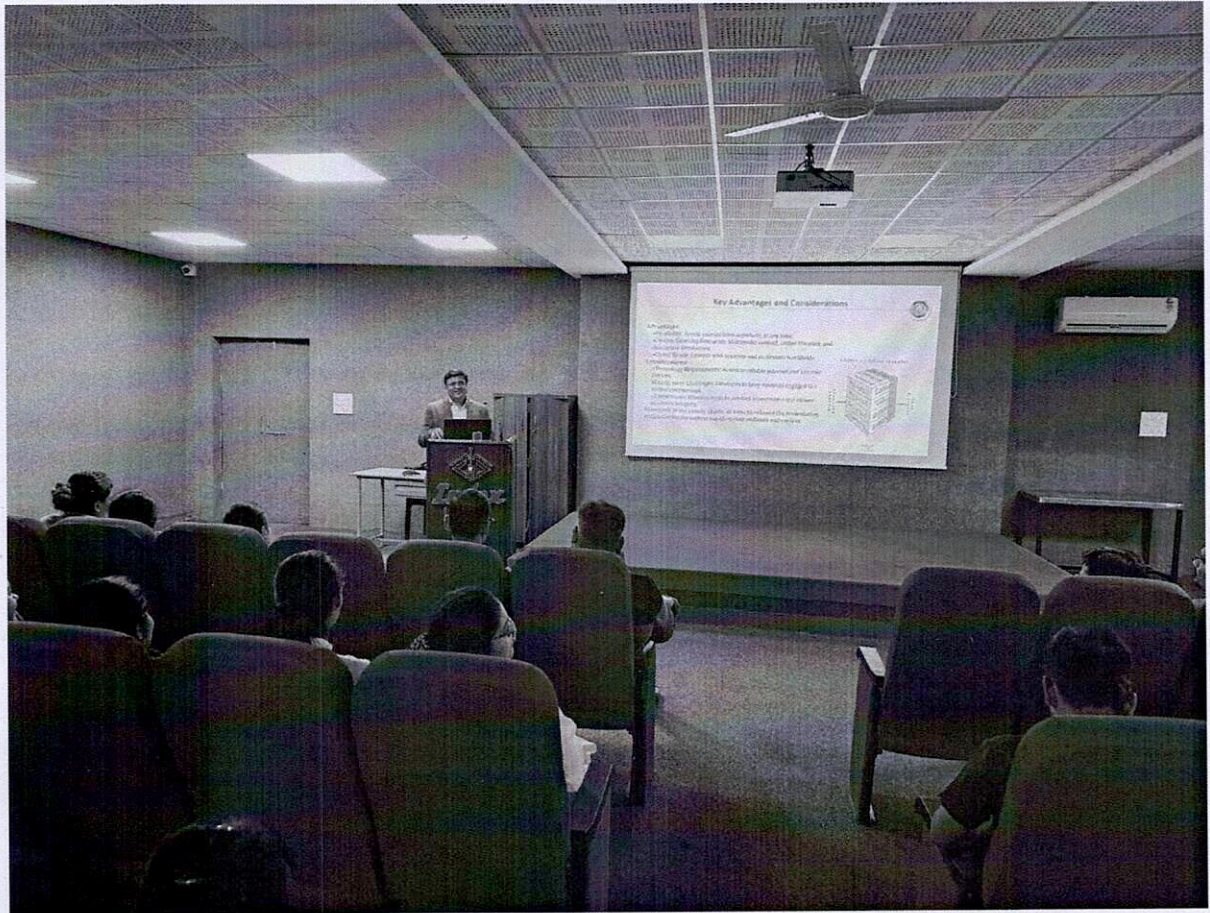

The fifth module addressed the significance of multimedia elements in creating a holistic learning experience. Strategies for seamlessly integrating videos, animations, and other multimedia elements into presentations were discussed. The trainers highlighted the importance of visual aids in medical education, showcasing platforms specifically designed for medical content.

Recognizing the value of collaborative learning, the workshop's sixth module explored approaches for group projects and case studies in the virtual environment. Participants learned how to facilitate effective communication and collaboration among students, ensuring that group work enhances the learning experience rather than presenting challenges. Case studies from successful online collaborative projects were presented as examples.

The final module focused on designing assessments that are fair, effective, and suitable for an online learning environment. Mr. Anil Pandey and Mr. Lakhon Pawar shared best practices for creating diverse assessment methods, including quizzes, assignments, and online exams. The module addressed concerns related to plagiarism, security, and the use of technology to monitor and evaluate students' progress in an ethical manner.

The "Online Learning in Higher Education" workshop at Malwanchal University provided a thorough exploration of various facets of online education, tailored to the specific needs of medical and allied health sciences education. Participants left the workshop equipped with practical strategies, technological know-how, and a deeper understanding of how to navigate the challenges and capitalize on the opportunities presented by the digital transformation in higher education.

Report on Training Program for Teaching Faculties

Ever since the advent of YouTube in 2005, it has now come a long way from being just a browsing and accessing platform to an uploading-your-content platform. Be it just the basics or advanced courses and modules, you can find anything and everything that is relevant to you. In this era of advancements, and also keeping the zoonotic infections in mind, it has now become all the more important for all the teaching faculties of pan india colleges to learn the art of creating and uploading the content on YouTube.

With COVID-19, at bay we are needed to elevate ourselves to the cause of uplifting the education scenario and start applying the basics of uploading the content on YouTube.

Keeping this in mind and using the opportunity, Index Institute of Dental Sciences, Malwanchal University, organized a learning programme for its teaching faculties on Zoom meeting platform, on the topic "All about YouTube and upbading the E-content" by Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, Professor & Head, Department of Conservative Dentistry & Endodontics, IIDS on 6th July 2020.

The programme started with introduction speech, by Dr Satish Karandikar, Dean, IIDS. Later, following objectives were kept by the speaker before the start of the programme:

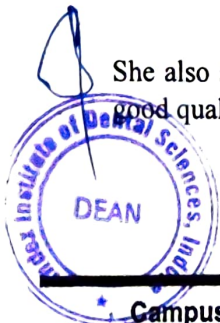

1. Removing the hesitation of presenting online
2. Ethical networking
3. Data analytics
4. Multimedia services and software learning

With the above objectives in mind, the speaker, Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, explained to the listeners the importance of content creation and channelizing one's energy in right direction. She stressed upon the ethics part of uploading that put focus on plagiarism and original content creation.

She also called upon people not to confuse between originality and violent media, as such channels gets completely blacklisted from the YouTube community. By violent media, she meant to awaken everyone about the picturization of any kind of hatred speeches, communal speeches, unscrupulous document presentation etc.

The speaker, also, pointed out the monetary benefits of uploading the content, that one can start generating after reaching a certain number of views and likes on the video being uploaded.

She also stressed upon the various softwares and multimedia pages that can be used to create a good quality content before uploading it.

Report of: Refine Your E-Presentation Skills Today- E-Content Training Program

Report

Date: 16th October 2021

Date: 15th October 2021

Venue: Auditorium, Index Institute of Dental Sciences, Indore

Number of attendees: 351

In the rapidly evolving landscape of education, effective online presentation skills have become indispensable. Recognizing this need, Malwanchal University organized a two-day E-Content Training Workshop titled "Refine Your E-Presentation Skills Today." The primary objective was to equip faculty members in the field of medical education with the knowledge and skills necessary to design compelling e-content.

Background and Rationale:

The workshop's emphasis on e-learning in medical education stems from the numerous advantages it offers over traditional methods. In an era where accessibility, resource scalability, improved academic results, self-paced learning, and cost-effectiveness are paramount, the significance of honing e-presentation skills becomes evident. The program aimed to address these requirements and empower educators to navigate the intricacies of online medical education.

The speaker discussed the in-depth understanding of the foundational principles for effective online presentations, setting the stage for more advanced topics. Interactive teaching modalities have revolutionized medical e-education by fostering dynamic and engaging learning experiences. The integration of multimedia elements in healthcare education has become pivotal in enhancing comprehension and retention of complex medical concepts. Virtual simulations, interactive case studies, and 3D anatomical models allow students to immerse themselves in realistic scenarios, bridging the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application. These modalities enable active participation, encouraging students to explore medical scenarios, diagnose conditions, and make critical decisions in a risk-free environment. Furthermore, incorporating multimedia elements such as videos, animations, and interactive presentations facilitates diverse learning styles, catering to visual, auditory, and kinesthetic learners. This multidimensional approach not only captivates students' attention but also enables them to grasp intricate medical information effectively, ultimately shaping well-rounded healthcare professionals equipped with both theoretical expertise and practical skills.

He explained that medical teachers have a plethora of methods and platforms at their disposal to seamlessly incorporate multimedia elements into presentations, enriching the learning experience for students. Widely used presentation software like Microsoft PowerPoint and Google Slides offer intuitive interfaces for embedding videos, animations, and interactive elements. Educators can create engaging content by integrating pre-recorded lectures, medical procedure demonstrations, or 3D animations directly into their presentations. Online platforms such as Zoom, Microsoft Teams, or Google Meet facilitate live presentations with the option to share multimedia content in real-time, fostering synchronous interaction with students. Dedicated e-learning platforms like Moodle or Canvas provide educators with robust tools to upload, organize, and present multimedia materials in a structured manner, offering students easy access to a variety of resources. Additionally, specialized medical education platforms like Touch Surgery or Visible Body enable the creation of interactive, anatomy-focused presentations, allowing teachers to simulate surgical procedures or explore intricate anatomical structures collaboratively. With these diverse methods and platforms, medical educators can tailor their presentations to cater to different learning styles, ensuring a comprehensive and engaging educational experience for their students.

Effective communication in virtual spaces demands intentional techniques to foster engagement and interaction among students. Utilizing platforms that facilitate real-time communication, such as video conferences and discussion forums, creates a sense of immediacy and connection. Instructors can employ interactive tools like polls, quizzes, and breakout sessions to maintain student involvement and gauge understanding. Encouraging open dialogue through virtual discussions and collaborative projects nurtures a sense of community, breaking down the barriers of physical separation. Providing clear guidelines for communication etiquette and creating opportunities for students to share personal experiences or insights enhances the human connection in virtual environments. Additionally, leveraging multimedia elements, such as visuals and multimedia presentations, can capture attention and convey information in diverse ways. By combining these strategies, educators can cultivate a vibrant virtual learning environment that promotes active participation, meaningful collaboration, and effective communication among students.

There were insightful discussions and practical sessions on various interactive teaching methods tailored for the unique demands of medical education. The session involved practical demonstrations and guidance on utilizing cutting-edge technology tools to create dynamic and engaging e-presentations.

By addressing the specific needs of medical educators in the digital age, the workshop has contributed significantly to enhancing the overall quality of medical education delivery. The participants, now equipped with refined e-presentation skills, are poised to make a meaningful impact in the evolving landscape of online medical education. This initiative reflects Malwanchal University's dedication to staying at the forefront of educational innovation and ensuring the continuous growth and development of its academic community.

Effective Delivery and usage of MS Power Point
Presentation

OBJECTIVE

Outlook of the content; Structure of the presentation; Understanding effective usage of AV aids; Improvising style of writing.

ABOUT

With the world tackling the challenge of COVID-19, digital education has once again taken the front seat to steer the education sector in forward mode. Whenever the idea of digital content creation comes up, effective presentation is the first thing that any educator would want to learn.

Students of 21st century are so content driven now-a-days that they always filter out the best from the better and to hook them up to the screens, one definitely requires to keep their presentations up to the mark as well as limit it so as not to let them feel procrastinated, while at the same time keeping them actively involved in the session.

Report on Training Program for Teaching Faculties

With the world tackling the challenge of COVID-19, digital education has once again taken the front seat to steer the education sector in forward mode. Whenever the idea of digital content creation comes up, effective presentation is the first thing that any educator would want to learn. Students of 21st century are so content driven now-a-days that they always filter out the best from the better and to hook them up to the screens, one definitely requires to keep their presentations up to the mark as well as limit it so as to not let them feel procrastinated, while at the same time keeping them actively involved in the session.

Keeping the above requirements in mind, Index Institute of Dental Sciences, Malwanchal University conducted a value-added course, for its faculty members, on the topic "Effective delivery and usage of MS Power-point presentation" by Dr. Kratika Mishra, Associate Professor, Department of Orthodontics, IIDS, Indore on 07th August 2021 at Lecture Hall 1 (Ground floor).

The objectives of the programme were:

- 1 Outlook of the content
- 2 Structure of the presentation
- 3 Effective usage of AV aids
- 4 Style of writing

The session was inaugurated by a welcome speech of Prof. Dr Satish Karandikar, Dean, IIDS, Indore and lamp lighting by the speaker and faculty members, followed later by saraswati Vandana recited by the extremely talented choir group of IIDS.

During this 4 hours of extensive presentation, DrKratikaguided the faculty members with various key aspects of power-point presentation which included the use of slide master feature to create a simple and consistent design templateand also stressed on use of contrasting colors for text and background.

While putting a note on simplification of presentations, she converged everyone's attention towards the 10/20/30 rule of power-point that meant no power-point presentation should be more than 10 slides, longer than 20 minutes and use font size smaller than 30 points.

While taking on questions, midway, she also exemplified on using the rule of 5-5 to keep the audience from feeling overwhelmed, wherein the presenter should use no more than 5 words per line of text and 5 lines of text per slide.

DrKratika also commented on the usage of good quality pictures taken from a proper referenced source to keep up the authenticity of the presentation.

Keeping the audience hooked for the day, she had also kept a session of hands-on post lunch break, for the faculty members regarding various features such as chart animation, QR4 office addin, ctrl+shift+drag feature for duplication of images, format background etc.

The audience was overly elated to having learnt so many new features which now could be used for their effective presentations in classrooms.

After the Q/A session, the conclusion speech reminding faculty members on the importance of keeping themselves updated with new features and vote of thanks was delivered by Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, Vice Dean, IIDS followed later by a group photograph session.

Report: Preparing & Developing E-content: An Aid to Teaching and Learning

A faculty training program titled, 'Preparing & Developing E-content: An Aid to Teaching and Learning' was organized on 30/06/2022, 2 pm onwards in the Lecture Hall 1 of Index Medical College, Hospital & Research Centre, Indore.

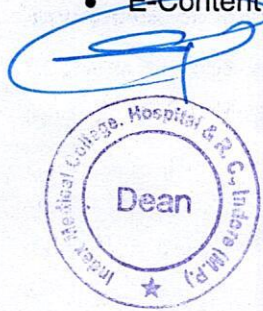

It was organized by the IT department of Index Medical College, Indore keeping in mind that the medical educational system is undergoing change where the use of new information and communication technology has become a must. It helps students get acquainted with the knowledge and information, they require in this techno savvy Era.

This program was done in continuation with another program titled 'Inclusive Cyber Security Awareness Program' where the speakers had discussed the aspects of cyber security. However, it was explained during this talk that to help us to develop knowledgeable and tech savvy doctors, it is of uttermost importance to integrate ICT with the medical education system.

It was further explained that E-content is a very powerful tool of education. It is the latest method of instruction that has attracted attention of learners and teachers of all instruction. Moreover, the advancements in technology and the plethora of powerful and innovative digital devices and tools have a great potential to improve educational outcomes. The speaker pointed out that educators must understand that the use of digital content and devices will help to improve teaching and learning and thus enhance educational opportunities and benefit the Millennial.

After the introduction to the importance of teaching with the help of E content was explained, and then the basics of preparing E content were brought forth. The speaker discussed the following modules:

- E-Content Design

Registrar
Malwanchal University
Indore (M.P.)

- Documentation & Presentation Tools
- Graphics & Animation
- Audio and Podcasting
- Online Video Creation
- Setting up Surveys/Polling/Quizzes

Each aspect of the module was discussed where matters like visually appealing; animations etc. were explained but at the same time over indulgence of graphics and fonts were also mentioned. All in all, it was explained how to maintain the balance between them. The speakers also explained the easy methods to set up quizzes and questionnaires for the same. The various commonly occurring mistakes were also discussed where it was explained that because it a methodology of teaching that it relatively different from the older teaching methods and lots of teachers have not undergone professional learning for the same, it is quite a possibility that some simple mistakes can occur and how to avoid them.

The faculty and post graduate students attending the program not only understood the basic methodology of developing e content but also got an overall idea of the mistakes and pitfalls that could occur.

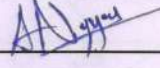

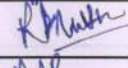

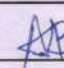

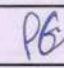

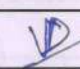

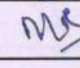

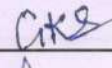

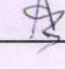

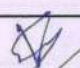

The program ended with a vote of thanks for the It department for their valuable contribution in helping the faculty understand how to prepare and develop e content and how to improve their presentation skills for the same.

Report

Inclusive Cyber Security Awareness Program

A faculty training program titled 'INCLUSIVE CYBER SECURITY AWARENESS PROGRAM' was conducted on 30/06/2022, in Lecture Hall 1 at Index Medical College, Hospital & Research Centre, Indore.

A total of 80 faculties from various departments attended the program where Mr. Lakhan, IT Incharge at IMCHRC, Indore was the resource person. Dr.G.S. Patel, Dean, IMCHRC, Indore chaired the session.

He discussed the topics under the following headings:

- Removable media.
- Passwords and Authentication.
- Physical security.
- Mobile Device Security.
- Working Remotely.
- Public Wi-Fi.
- Cloud Security.

Mr. Lakhan started the session discussing the importance of being aware about cyber security and why it is important for every individual working even in a field like medicine needs to know about this. With growing dependency on digital media, cyber security which was a previously ignored domain has now become of prime importance. He mentioned that most of time it is not a virus that is to be blamed but also at times it individuals with poor cyber habits that create doorways for cyber attacks, often inviting troubles themselves.

While educating the faculty regarding cyber security, Mr. Lakhan also pointed out that in the long run, non teaching staff, students, specifically post graduate students also need to be oriented to this. In certain departments like Radiodiagnosis which has its dependency on a proper working, fast usage internet and where dealing with the cyber world is a day to day requirement, it is of uttermost importance that frequent training sessions are the need of the hour. Also, as we are heading towards an era where telemedicine is becoming the new normal, protecting ourselves from cyber crime is a must. For this, he gave the participants a number of tips like never presume you are not a target to hackers, Keeping your software up-to-date is a must, to be careful with suspicious mails and never to download anything from unknown sources or click on unknown sites. It is also important that a secure and uncommon password is set for important accounts. A very practical advice was also shared by Mr. Lakhan to never leave devices unattended.

At the end of the talk, the participants brought out a number of queries which were duly answered by Mr. Lakhan. To end the session, the entire team of IT Department of Index Medical College, Hospital & Research Centre were thanked for their input in making this session possible and also for the knowledge that was shared by them.

Cyber Security

A virtual security gate

OBJECTIVE

The objectives are to understand :

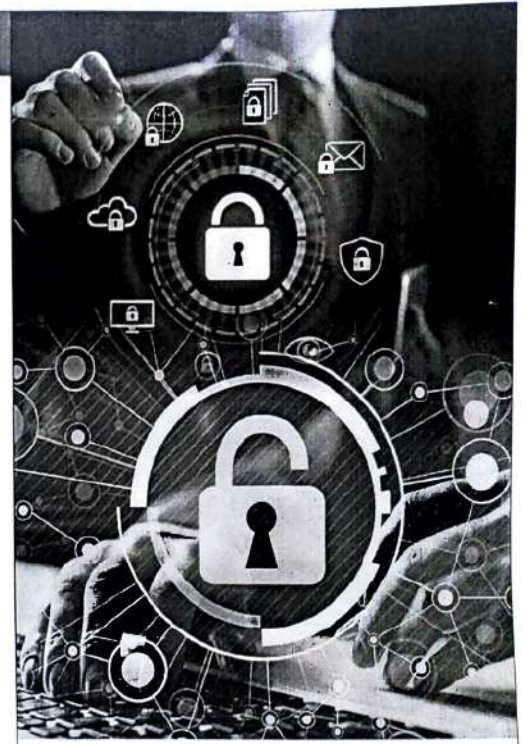

- Basics of cyber security.
- Types of cyberspace security.
- Cyber security application in dentistry.
- Cyber wars.

ABOUT

Very recently Denial-of-service malware had attacked the bank services of Estonia; the entire country's economy had come to a standstill. India was not far behind as main power grid of Mumbai was placed under attack by an unidentified source which led to a complete blackout in the city for nearly an hour and stagnancy of the so called "lifeline of Mumbai", the local train. With such attacks, now common, the space of cyber security is reviving itself to bring back the force required to tackle such menace.

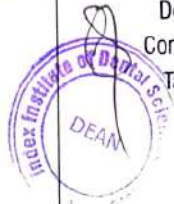

In dentistry, as we come across many patients whose sensitive information are fed into our systems on a daily basis, things like cybersecurity definitely then comes to picture as it can be learnt and the benefits utilized to protect ourselves from losing not just our professional but personal data as well.

This course is going to be intensive session to understand the basic nuances of cybersecurity and the ways of its application in the field of dentistry.

REGISTRATION DETAILS

Speaker: Mr. Lakhon Panwar
 Contact Person: Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, Vice Dean, Prof & Head, Department of Conservative Dentistry & Endodontics
 Target Group: Teaching Staff, IIDS
 Date: 20th June 2022
 Schedule: 09:30 am-2:00 pm
 Venue: LH 3, IIDS, First Floor

COURSE OUTCOMES:

The course will help the participants to:

1. Understand the various softwares that are available to tackle cyber-attacks.
2. Learn about dental specific software.
3. Change the way they are practicing so far.
4. Understand the vast cyberspace and various government policies regarding cybersecurity.

Report on Training Program for Teaching Faculties

Very recently Denial-of-service malware had attacked the bank services of Estonia, the entire country's economy had come to a standstill. India was not far behind as main power grid of Mumbai was placed under attack by an unidentified source which led to a complete blackout in the city for nearly an hour and stagnancy of "lifeline of Mumbai", the local train. With such attacks, now common, the space of cybersecurity is reviving itself to bring back the force required to tackle such menace.

Cybersecurity is the practice of deploying people, policies, processes and technologies to protect organizations, their critical systems and sensitive information from digital attacks. A strong cybersecurity strategy can provide a good security posture against malicious attacks designed to access, alter, delete, destroy or extort an organization's or user's systems and sensitive data.

Whenever the thought of cybersecurity comes up, one must first try to understand its basic nuances as this field is still new to dentistry. In dentistry, as we come across many patients whose sensitive information are fed into our systems on a daily basis, things like cybersecurity definitely then comes to picture as it can be learnt and the benefits utilized to protect ourselves from losing not just our professional but personal data as well.

Keeping the above scenario in mind, Index Institute of Dental Sciences, Malwanchal University conducted a value-added course, for its faculty members, on the topic "Cybersecurity- A virtual security gate" by Mr Lakhan Panwar, IT Head, Malwanchal University, Indore on 20th June 2022 at Lecture Hall 1 (Ground floor).

The objectives of the programme were:

- 1 Basics of cybersecurity
- 2 Types of cyberspace security
- 3 Cybersecurity applications in dentistry
- 4 Cyber-wars

The session was inaugurated with a welcome speech delivered by Prof. Dr Satish Karandikar, Dean, IIDS, Indore and lamp lighting by the speaker and faculty members, followed later by saraswati Vandana recited by the extremely talented choir group of IIDS.

During these 5 hours of extensive session on cybersecurity, Mr Lakhan explained that to keep up with changing security risks, a more proactive and adaptive approach is necessary. He also said that several key cybersecurity advisory organizations offer such guidance. For example, as he quoted, the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) recommends adopting continuous monitoring and real-time assessments as part of a risk assessment framework to defend against known and unknown threats.

While explaining the benefits of cybersecurity in dentistry, he gave a detailed benefit list in general that included; Prevention of unauthorized user access, Protection for end-users and end point devices, Business protection against cyber-attacks and data breaches etc.

The speaker, Mr. Lakhan Panwar also highlighted top cybersecurity softwares that can be downloaded such as Mimecast, LifeLock, Bitdefender total security, Malwarebytes etc. He also stressed that as part of the HIPAA Security Rule, covered entities (i.e., your practice) are required to undergo cybersecurity awareness training to help mitigate the risk of human mistakes and minimize the chances of being exposed to an attack. Recent data points to a 50% to 75% reduction in cyber-attacks against healthcare entities that properly train their staff.

While answering some questions, he explained the role of various government schemes such as digital India initiative and NCIIPC's role in protecting critical information infrastructure from cyber-attacks.

He also presented the various government data on cyber-attacks and showcased the awe-struck audience the current weaponry of war that the developed countries might use against developing economies in the future

Post lunch break, a demonstration session was organized to acquaint the faculties with the softwares for cyberspace protection.

After the Q/A session, the conclusion speech reminding faculty members on the importance of keeping themselves updated with the new softwares and vote of thanks was delivered by Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, Vice Dean, IIDS followed later by a photograph session.

REPORT ON

REMOTE EDUCATION

E-content Training were organized in Index Nursing College on 15/12/2021 With the advent of technology, e-learning has become an intrinsic part of the teaching and learning process. Further the recent UGC Draft proposal on Blended learning has made it both urgent and necessary for educational institutions to work towards developing strategies for online education. Several initiatives have been undertaken in the direction of constructing an effective teaching learning environment using the fruits of technology. These include development of e-content, massive open online courses, virtual labs and knowledge repositories.

This e-content training for faculties aims to develop the required skills to effectively utilize ICT tools and make them an essential component of the teaching-learning framework. The participants will be trained in developing e-content in the form of presentations, videos, info graphics which are engaging and interactive and would better cater to the needs of students with different learning styles. The training also outlines creation and conduct of online assessments and quizzes that could support seamless and hassle-free grading and evaluation of students which would not only be simple for the teachers but also interesting for the students.

Objectives

The objectives of the training were to :

1. Basics of online learning and e-content development
2. Applications for creating interactive learning content

Methodology

Model of Training The workshop covered the following:

Resource Person

Mr. Lakhan Panwar , IT Head , Malwanchal University

After inaugural session, the technical sessions started with discussion on designing online courses; overview of Learning Management System. Learners can study using asynchronously or synchronously technologies. The courses are based on existing Open Educational Resources, and are built around a learning management system with content stored on online repositories. Digital media integration would facilitate effectiveness of curriculum. Synchronous and asynchronous technologies would facilitate interaction - with peers, with teachers, and with content.

In next session, Resource person Dr. Anu V Kumar Professor highlighted how to get benefited by remote education and how to give access to students. How to add activity/resource was also discussed in the session. Uploading courses, organizing courses and controlling course appearances to participants were also discussed in the session. The participants had hands on practices according to the instruction of the resource persons.

At the end, Dr. Reena Thakur Professor proposed vote of thanks.

Introduction:

Malwanchal University conducted a comprehensive E-Content Training Workshop for faculty members on 16th and 17th August 2022. The workshop, facilitated by Mr. Rajesh Patil from Mount Litera Zee School, Indore, aimed to empower educators with the skills and knowledge necessary for effective e-content development. The workshop covered a series of modules, each focusing on crucial aspects of e-content creation, ranging from foundational principles to the integration of audio and video elements, and strategies for implementing digital assessments.

The workshop began with a deep dive into the foundations of e-content development. Mr. Rajesh Patil provided an overview of the evolution of e-learning, emphasizing the importance of understanding its historical context and the transformative role it plays in contemporary education. Participants engaged in discussions about the key components of e-content, exploring its various forms, and gaining insights into how digital resources can enhance the learning experience.

Building on the foundational understanding, the second module focused on introducing the principles that govern effective e-content development. Mr. Patil elucidated the significance of instructional design, emphasizing the need for content to be learner-centric, interactive, and accessible. Faculty members were introduced to popular e-learning authoring tools and platforms, equipping them with the skills to create engaging and pedagogically sound digital content.

Recognizing that technology alone does not guarantee effective teaching, the third module underscored the critical importance of pedagogy in digital initiatives. Mr. Patil explored various pedagogical approaches suitable for online environments, emphasizing student engagement, collaboration, and active participation. The module aimed to bridge the gap between traditional pedagogy and the digital landscape, empowering educators to adapt their teaching methods effectively.

Audio content has emerged as a potent tool in education, and the fourth module concentrated on leveraging its power through podcast creation. Mr. Patil guided participants through the process of planning, recording, and producing educational podcasts. Practical demonstrations illustrated how audio content can enhance learning experiences, cater to different learning styles, and provide a versatile means of delivering educational material.

Recognizing the impact of visual content, the fifth module provided a comprehensive guide to designing and producing effective educational videos. Mr. Patil covered scriptwriting techniques, video editing, and the integration of visual aids to create engaging and informative video content. The module aimed to empower faculty members to use video as a dynamic teaching tool, enhancing their ability to communicate complex concepts effectively.

The final module focused on strategies for designing and implementing effective digital assessments. Participants explored various assessment methods suitable for online learning environments, including quizzes, assignments, and online exams. Mr. Patil addressed concerns related to plagiarism, authenticity, and maintaining the integrity of digital assessments. Practical insights were provided to assist faculty members in developing fair and efficient evaluation methods suited for the digital landscape.

The E-Content Training Workshop proved to be a valuable initiative in enhancing faculty members' proficiency in e-content development. The comprehensive coverage of foundational principles, pedagogical considerations, audio and video content creation, and digital assessment strategies equipped participants with a versatile set of skills applicable to contemporary educational demands. The active engagement and collaboration among faculty members fostered a vibrant learning environment, reflecting a collective commitment to advancing teaching practices.
